Cayuga Creek is a tributary to the Niagara River and originates in the Niagara Escarpment in the Town of Lewiston. Flowing southward and eventually meeting up with its tributary, Bergholtz Creek in Niagara Falls, the Creek is the site of intense efforts by local organization, namely Buffalo River Keeper, to restore it and protect it as a resource. Efforts include stream bank stabilization, reduction of pollutants entering the creek, and education of adjacent homeowners and businesses.

Hi Pete:

Can Weston obtain information on sensitive areas around the NFB site? Specifically in relation to our parcels below? Distances to schools, wetland, etc. Is Cayuga Creek a sensitive ecosystem? Thanks
